3.1 Demonstrates anti-racist and anti-oppressive social work practice at the individual, family, group, organizational, community, research, and policy levels; and:

At the Celebracion de Las Colinas event hosted at Clifton Hills Elementary School, I had the privilege of engaging with numerous minority families, discussing the support and services offered by Partnership. Through meaningful conversations, I shared our organization's commitment to addressing domestic violence and sexual assault, providing these families with essential brochures to serve as tangible resources for themselves or their loved ones in need. This event served as a platform for me to passionately advocate for the deconstruction of systemic barriers and the promotion of equal treatment, regardless of race, ethnicity, or economic status. It was a profound opportunity to empower and support our community. 🗝
