PURPOSE

Making a world filled with love, compassion, and kindness is the purpose of my life. I firmly believe that every soul deserves to experience the comfort of love, safety, and unflinching respect. I believe that the heart, that holy place where empathy, compassion, and forgiveness flourish, holds the secret to a better society. I don't simply see the heart as a component of who we are; I see it as the very core of our humanity, the source of true joy, and the link to deeply meaningful relationships
