1.4 Use supervision and consultation to guide professional judgment and behavior. (CSWE, 2022, pp. 8-9):

This week, I worked with Kara and another social work intern at the Hearth office. We worked on case notes together and reviewed scenarios to practice writing them effectively. Since we are working within the healthcare system, it is vital that we communicate information effectively and concisely in order to protect identities and confirm visits. I appreciated having my field instructor practice scenarios and practical examples on how to write case notes effectively so that when I go into the field, I have a basis and template for how to write professionally in hospice practice. Since this is my first time in hospice care, I have learned that the way in which I write case notes may differ between agencies. Due to this, I have learned the importance of clarifying expectations, specifically with case notes. 🗝️
