

communication pattern, how she worked, and what processes she had. I had a fantastic time with this client and was really happy that I got to do this.

On Wednesday, we started off with supervision. My field instructor and I discussed my learning plan and the various activities I will be doing this year. I really appreciated how welcoming she was for questions. She really makes this a positive learning environment and takes the time to answer any questions I have. We also discussed a client case that I would be assisting on. She explained that the client and one of his parents would be coming in that afternoon to meet me and I would explain what I was going to do with their son. We also discussed some clients that she had had on Monday and the questions I had there. We talked about sex education and birth control as it relates to individuals with intellectual disabilities. She explained to me how the protocol used to be every woman with an intellectual disability automatically got a hysterectomy. Since then, our societal norm has shifted to using birth control. This is an area of autism that I had never really thought about or considered until starting my internship here. After supervision, we had was really nice to get to know the other clinic staff and see how they interact as a team. After lunch, my supervisor had a session that I was not able to sit in on, so I worked reception at the front desk. I spent some time answering the phone and reading emails to parents with
